B. DEFINITIONS

1. Workplace

Frontier School Division may be liable for harassment committed by its employees outside of the normal parameters of the workplace or working hours if it has implications or repercussions in the workplace. - b. outside of a school or the Division/Area office,

- a. normal and appropriate exercise of supervisory responsibilities, including appropriate performance management, training, work assignment and discipline,
- b. normal social interaction, good-natured joking and appropriate humour in the workplace.

3. Constructive Knowledge

Whether harassment or discrimination is intentional does not matter. What matters is the effect of the behaviour on an individual or group. Therefore,

- it does not matter that the individual who displayed offensive conduct or made an offensive comment or gesture did not mean it. Intent is not necessary and ignorance is no defence.
- harassment is substantiated if the individual knew or ought to have known that the conduct, comment or gesture would likely cause offence or embarrassment.
- harassment is assessed in accordance with the "reasonable person" test. A "reasonable person" should know when they do or say something that may be offensive to others. Whether a person intends to offend someone does not matter. Harassment occurs where the reasonable person would find the conduct or comment to be unwelcome and offensive.

4. Types of Harassment

Three types of harassment which are

- i. the categories set out in Section 9 of the Manitoba Human Rights Code,
 - ii. personal harassment and,
 - iii. sexual harassment,
- are described below.

- any improper behaviour by an employee which the employee knew or ought to have known would be unwelcome;
- an abuse of authority where an individual's improper use of power and authority inherent in the position held is aimed at intimidating, frightening, coercing or offending those at whom it is directed. This includes actions which endanger an employee's ability to perform the job or threatens and employee's economic livelihood.

- (c) Sexual Harassment

Sexual harassment can be physical or verbal and includes but is not limited to:

- a course of abusive, unwelcome conduct for comments made on the basis of gender;
- any sexual solicitation or advance that is unwelcome;
- unwelcome sexual remarks or jokes that denigrate;
- displaying derogatory materials such as pictures, cartoons or printed matter;
- demands for sexual favours in return for a promise of a reward or a threat of reprisal;
- action as defined as harassing in the Manitoba Human Rights Code;

by any person who is in a position to know, or ought to know, that such action is unwelcome.

5. Retaliation

Retaliation against an individual for having used this policy, or for having participated or cooperated in any investigation under this policy or for having been associated with a person who has used this policy or participated in these procedures, will be treated as harassment.
